TENNESSEE NEWS CUT TO THE QUICK FOR BUSY READERS

L. N. McBride, a farmer near St. Clair, sold one load of wheat for the sum of $136.85. There were 40 1/2 bushels, making the wheat bring $3.40 per bushel. The wheat was sold to a firm in Morristown.

Confederate veterans attending the reunion in Washington this year must bring their own blankets. The government will be unable to supply them because of the present demand for army purposes.

Loans to farmers by the Federal land banks have passed the $1,000,000 mark, and are being made at the rate of $150,000 a day. If the present rate of increase keeps up the Farm Loan Board estimates the total loans during May will be $3,000,000.

The public safety committee of Tye county received reports from the men who went into all the communities of the county to take the census of food production. According to preliminary report there will be a 300 per cent increase in foodstuff in that county.

There is widespread hope that the government will soon proceed with the construction of the $20,000,000 nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee river. In this connection, a decision from the government nitrate board is expected soon.

John Morrow, of Harrison, has secured a contract for furnishing a Philadelphia company twenty million feet of yellow pine lumber, to be used in building a large number of merchant ships designed to be constructed in the Philadelphia navy yard.

The summer institute of the Epworth leagues of the Holston conference and adjoining territory, will be held June 25 to July 1, at Chilhowee park. The institute will be conducted by the central office of the Epworth league of the M. E. denomination, Chicago, Ill.

Voters of Carter county defeated the road bond issue for $180,000. This will cause the State Line road to be unfinished. It was generally understood that it will take $50,000 to complete this work, and it is believed that an issue of $50,000 to finish the State Line road would have carried.

Nearly a hundred young men, students of King college, Bristol, are undergoing military training on the college campus. Drilling is conducted for an hour or more each day, and the boys are being taught the tactics of army formation, marching and maneuver.

The completion of the double-tracking of the Southern railway from Knoxville to Asheville, N. C., may be delayed somewhat on account of the war with Germany, but it is stated positively by Geo. R. Loyall, assistant vice-president of the Southern railway that this route will be double-tracked before a great while.

Plans adopted by the board of trade of Bristol and the county food committee to provide peas and beans for farmers to plant, the same to be paid for after the crops are harvested, have aroused wide interest. Applications are coming in daily for seed, and indications point to a largely increased acreage.

Officers made a trip through the mountains of Campbell county from Jellico by way of Pine mountain and Short mountain on foot and destroyed three distilleries. The operators will be prosecuted. The officers state that they will eliminate moonshining in Campbell county if they have to camp among the mountains.

Labor shortage and not a war necessity, has caused Mrs. W. H. Burk, bride of the owner of an auto repair shop in Chattanooga, to don overalls and become a first-rate mechanic. Before her marriage she was Miss Mabel Bollinger, a nurse. Now she is taking the place of a man who was paid $17.50 a week for his work.

A total increase of 240,000 bushels in the corn acreage in East Tennessee in 1917 over 1916 will result if other counties in that section, which employ county agents, show the same ratio of greater crops planted, as that discovered in Knox county by surveyors who estimated the prospective harvest yield at a meeting in Knoxville.

Herbert Quick, member of the federal farm loan board, delivered an address to the Tennessee Bankers' association, which met in Chattanooga, explaining the operations of the federal farm loan act. He declared that this was time of activities for both agriculturists and bankers. "We must grow enough foodstuff to keep the enemies of Germany fat," he said.

The subscription of $1,000 each by twenty-four Knoxville men who are willing to advance that amount at six per cent interest for the purpose of making the East Tennessee division fair an unequalled success, is urged by President J. G. Sterchl for the purpose of purchasing the Johnson race track. The acquisition of this track at a price of $24,000 is recommended. Favorable action is expected.

Another ten percent increase of wages for its employees is announced by the Hardwick stove company of Cleveland, making a total voluntary increase of twenty percent. In the company's pay roll this year. This, the management explains, is done because of the high cost of living.

Governor Rye appointed Prof. Wharton Jones, of Memphis, a member of the state board of preliminary examination for medical practitioners in the state. Prof. Jones takes the place of Dr. J. W. Rhea, of Memphis, deceased.

The "blue law" move for Cleveland received a knock-out blow at the hands of the city council at the regular meeting for the month of May. A petition signed by more than forty citizens was presented to the board of mayor and aldermen, praying that the Sunday closing law be put in full force and effect in that city. The members of the city council were unanimous in tabling the petition.

Leading jewelry establishments of Memphis, together with many other business houses, began closing at 5 p. m. last week and will continue to close at that hour until September 15. The retail jewelers adopted the early closing plan in order that proprietors, clerks and employees may devote an hour or two each night to "war gardens." On Saturday many places of business close at 1 p. m.

An organization of junior marine and naval scouts will be organized in Knoxville by W. C. Hunter, physical director of the Central Y. M. C. A. It will be similar to the Boy Scout organization. The spirit of patriotism will be instilled into the members of the organization and they will be given military knowledge which will be valuable to them when the time comes that their services are needed.

Under a plan of the war department to issue an order within the next ten days establishing a negro officers' training camp to accommodate 3,000 negroes who are to command negro regiments, Tennessee's quota of officers will be 300; Mississippi, 150; Arkansas, 200; Alabama, 200. Entirely new regulations will be issued governing the camps. The plans are to have it in the central west.

Major E. S. Walton, commandant of Fort Oglethorpe, selected the site of the new cantonment, to consist of fifteen hundred buildings, to provide for the housing of the 17,100 troops to be mobilized in Chickamauga park. The site lies east and north to the regimental post of Fort Oglethorpe. The buildings will be similar to those built for the training camp and will require 12,900,000 feet of lumber and cost $1,500,900. The buildings are to be completed by June 15.

The Tennessee National Guard will be called into active service July 25. Representative Austin won a fight in the house when that body sent back to conference the military conscription bill by a majority of fifteen with instructions that the pay of private soldiers in time of war be made $30 per month instead of $15 as at present. Mr. Austin first offered this bill five years ago and when the military bill was before the house recently he offered it as an additional one.

Settings of pheasant eggs were offered to East Tennessee farmers by W. D. Hower, state game warden, in a speech made before the convention in Knoxville. He offered the eggs on the condition, however, that the lives of the birds be protected for a period of time. Pheasants are splendid game birds, but are very scarce in Tennessee. They are also good insect destroyers, and state officials are anxious that the birds be given some attention both for domestic purposes and in their wild state.

While Tennessee is entitled to another regiment of infantry and a regiment of artillery under the Hay bill, nothing will be done toward permitting the organization of the commands until the new army of 500,000 has been conscripted and selected. While the department is not desirous of denying Tennessee's quota, it desires that all new increments just authorized at Chickamauga park be filled first and that Tennessee furnish 12,041 for the new army before any new national guard commands are formed.

Senator John K. Shields called on Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and presented him with a copy of resolutions adopted by the Tennessee Bankers' association, in session at Chattanooga, pledging the banks to handle all funds growing out of the "Liberty loan" without cost for exchange to the government. The secretary was much pleased with this manifestation of patriotism on the part of fellow Tennesseans and disposition to co-operate with the government in placing the loans without cost to the purchaser or to the government.

Col. Harry Berry, Nashville, received formal notification from the war department that no cavalry is to be recruited for the army during the war. The announcement, on account of the lack of use for cavalry, under conditions prevailing on the battlefields of Europe, came as a shock to many who have enlisted in the cavalry. Col. Berry declared that it was likely that there would be specialized recruiting for infantry and field artillery, since these fighting branches will be most in demand when the government begins its contemplated troop movement to France.

Maj. Leonard T. Waldron, coast artillery corps U. S. A., is in Nashville conferring with Governor T. C. Rye and Gen. C. B. Rogan in regard to the establishment of a maneuvering ground for approximately 30,000 troops. Conferences were held, and Major Waldron and General Rogan will make an inspection of available sites within a radius of sixty miles of Nashville, during the next few days.

The East Tennessee Sunday School institute composed of delegates and officials of all Sunday schools in East Tennessee will convene in Greeneville, for a three days' session Tuesday, June 5.

Are there any rivers running any distance other than south? Are there any rivers that run north?
As many flow north as in any other direction to unite with other rivers or empty into northern seas. The longest river in Canada, the Mackenzie, has its source in the heart of Canada, flows north many hundreds of miles and empties into the Arctic ocean. Most of the tributaries of the Amazon, in Brazil, have their sources far to the south and flow north to join that great stream. The Rhine and the Vistula run generally north, the Danube generally east, but also north and south.
